

German Data Protection

Your data may be used in compliance with the German Data Protection Law (DSGVO) as follows:

- your name and affiliation will be displayed on the participant list
- your name and affiliation may be used to create badges
- your name and affiliation will be shown in the timetable if you give talks
- all information will be stored on GSI servers
- some of the information may be forwarded to other participants
- your data will be forwarded to administrative departments of GSI, e.g. if you apply for travel reimbursement
- some of the information will appear anonymously on statistics/lists for organizational reasons.

Please note you will have to agree to these terms if you want to participate in this event. If you feel you cannot agree, please contact the organisers for clarification and help.

Spanish Data Protection

- Responsible entity: Fundación Centro de Ciencias de Benasque Pedro Pascual
Av. Francia, 17 - 22440 (Benasque) - info@benasque.org - G2221790
- Purpose: manage your registration, participation and attendance at the organised event or activity and send commercial communications of other events related to this field, even by electronic means.
- Legitimation: registration to the event and consent to receive information about other events organised by the entity.
- Assignments: legally envisaged.
- Conservation: Duration of the event; once it is completed, during the periods required by law to attend to eventual responsibilities.
- Commercial data: until cancellation is requested.
- Rights: You can withdraw your consent at any time as well as exercise your right of access, rectification, deletion, portability, limitation and opposition by addressing to the data of the responsible entity. In case of discrepancies, you can file a claim with the Data Protection Agency (www.aepd.es).